

CIAM Judging Initiative

At the 2012 CIAM Plenary meeting it was unanimously approved to initiate a project to substitute human judges with an electronic judging system for all those classes for which it may be appropriate and for appropriate record classes.

Initially, this had been a proposal submitted to the 2012 Plenary Meeting by Germany for only F3D. Bureau subsequently amended the proposal to cover all appropriate classes across all the categories and the Plenary meeting fully supported this amendment.

It was further established that developments are already underway and CIAM will liaise with developers and other parties.

The implementation date of the CIAM Judging Initiative is 01 May 12.

CIAM Technical Secretary, 04 May 12